

Beautifying with soap and water

HERE is a way to make washing your face an actual beauty treatment. It will keep your complexion smooth and soft.

You must use Palmolive soap, because of its soothing mildness. You must massage the creamy Palmolive lather gently but thoroughly into your skin, so that it penetrates every tiny pore.

Then, when you rinse this lather off, all clogged up dirt, oil secretions and dried perspiration come with it.

Your skin will be clean—thoroughly, healthfully clean, with no poisonous accumulations left to cause ugly blackheads and disfiguring pimples.

Dry skins also need Palmolive Cold Cream, often before as well as after washing. This supplements the lack of natural oil and keeps the texture satin smooth.

You couldn't risk such thorough cleansing with ordinary soap. There would be danger of irritation.

But the bland creamy lather of Palmolive doesn't roughen even the most sensitive skin.

Made from the mildest ingredients

Palmolive couldn't be anything but mild. It contains no ingredients that could make it harsh.

It is the modern combination of the Palm and Olive oils Cleopatra used both as cosmetic and cleanser.

Why Palmolive is popular priced

Simply because public demand is so enormous that it reduces manufacturing cost.

The Palmolive factories are never idle, night or day. All ingredients are bought in vast quantities.

Thus you need pay no premium for Palmolive quality. It is America's favorite toilet luxury, sold at a popular price.

Unamused

Tommy had a profound contempt for the little boy next door, who threw a ball like a girl, seldom had on any but a clean shirt, and who generally wore gloves. "Do you know why he's a sissy?" asked Tommy of his aunt. "It's 'cause he looks just like his mother, and that shows he's got girl blood in him."—Harper's Magazine.

Suspicious

"There's a man outside who wants to see you," announced the office boy. "He says he's an old friend of yours." "Find out whether he wants to borrow money or sell life insurance," directed his employer. "In either case, I'm not in."

SCIOTOVILLE AND WHEELERSBURG

The village became a part of the city of Portsmouth this Tuesday morning, when the county commissioners annexed the village to Portsmouth. This means the city will have to provide police and fire protection for the village. Safety Director St. Searns is already taking steps to get the protection needed. It will probably mean the purchase of a fire truck for use in the village, and an up-to-date fire station.

Mrs. Amy Winkelman and daughter Gladys, of Butte, Montana, are visiting her brother, Alfred Deyer, of Linwood, this being her first visit in thirty-two years.

Tobacco Teeth

See the change in ten days

All statements approved by authorities

Smokers' teeth discolor more than others, usually. But the stains lie in a film, and removing that film removes them.

There is now a way to combat this film. Millions of people employ it. Leading dentists everywhere advise it. See how teeth whiten when you use it a few days.

Film ruins teeth

That film on teeth which makes them dingy causes most tooth troubles. It is viscous—you can feel it. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays.

The old ways of brushing did not end it, so millions found that well-brushed teeth discolored and decayed.

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Very few people have escaped these troubles caused by film.

Pepsodent

THE NEW-DAY DENTIFRICE

A scientific film combant, combined with two other modern requisites. Now advised for daily use by leading dentists everywhere. Supplied by druggists in large tubes.

The Halyon Club will hold a picnic at Camp Chase in Wheelersburg Friday. More than fifty invited guests will be present.

Mrs. William Howell, of Ironton, is visiting her children, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Howell.

WHEELERSBURG

The Halyon Club will picnic at Camp Chase here Friday, when about fifty invited guests will be present. Work on the new Children's Home is progressing satisfactorily.

A Gift

A 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent is sent to all who ask. See coupon.

Now we combat it

Now dental science has evolved ways to combat film day by day. Able authorities have amply proved their efficiency.

These methods are combined in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. Millions have adopted it, largely through dental advice. It opens, we believe, a new dental era. And, to let all know it, a 10-Day Tube is being sent to everyone who asks.

See and feel it act

Pepsodent brings five desired effects. Some are instant, all are quick. A very short test will prove a revelation.

One ingredient is pepsin. Another multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits that cling. It also multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Two factors directly attack the film. One of them keeps the teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily adhere. With every application it combats the teeth's great enemies as nothing else has done.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Let this test show you, for your own sake, what clean teeth really mean.

BORAH STICKS TO SEN. HARDING; NOMINEE APPROVES SPEECHES

MARION, O., October 5.—In answer to widely published reports that Senator Borah, a leader of the treaty irreconcilables soon will quit the Republican campaign, Senator Harding's headquarters here made public today a telegram in which Mr. Borah declared he would continue to work for Republican success. The message addressed to Senator Harding was as follows:

"In view of reports I wish you to know my speeches in future will be along same lines as at Dayton, and in the senate. I want to see you win and I want to see the league scheme defeated. In my own way I shall devote my time to the achievement of both propositions."

Senator Harding has already declared that Senator Borah's declarations in campaign speeches met with his approval, and he renewed his prediction today that throughout the remainder of the campaign he and Mr. Borah would be found speaking in accord. The nominee also revealed that in his next public address which is to be delivered Thursday at Des Moines, Iowa, he expects to develop a step further his position on the league issue.

Mr. Harding would make no comment today on the statement of President Wilson appealing for support of attention to the matter.

Wanted In Columbus

COLUMBUS, O., October 5.—Florin Zelenko, held in Pittsburgh as a suspect in connection with the Wall street explosion September 16, is wanted here by police on a charge of having stolen a quantity of dynamite and caps from a construction company on September 21. When arrested in Pittsburgh he had in a suit case several sticks of dynamite.

Police say that on September 20, they were warned by Cleveland authorities to be on the lookout for Zelenko as a dangerous radical and to be especially watchful for thefts of explosives. On September 21, the construction company, building a bridge here, reported that the dynamite had disappeared, and several foreign workers were missing.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., October 5.—Examination of Florin Zelenko, who was arrested here Sunday night with a quantity of explosives in his suit case, was continued today by federal agents.

The government officers questioned the suspect for hours yesterday in an effort to connect him with the Wall street explosion, but the nature of some of the information obtained will not be made public, they said, until the story can be checked up. They finally said that with new leads, received from other cities early this morning, it would require about a week to verify Zelenko's story.

In their examination of the prisoner today, the agents said, they would question him relative to the charge of Pittsburgh police that he is wanted here in connection with the theft of 55 pounds of dynamite, September 21 last, and would endeavor to confirm the story of the New York women who is said to have told authorities there that Zelenko had brought the carried quantities of dynamite in his pockets.

King Buried in Tree Trunk.
When Henry II was in Wales in 1177 receiving the submission of the princes, he chanced to hear the deeds of King Arthur sung by the Welsh, and was told the exact burial place of the hero of Glanstonbury. Some years later the abbot of Glanstonbury, the king's nephew, searched for the body, and found it buried in the trunk of a tree, beside that of Arthur's queen, Guinevere. When Glanstonbury abbey was made a ruin in Henry VIII's time, the remains of King Arthur and his queen were swept away, according to the London Telegraph. It was on Cadbury hill in Somerset, the famed Camelot of Arthurian romance, that the British king prepared for his great stand against the Anglo-Saxons; and the name of Arthur still clings to the locality which has become known by the name of "Arthur's lane" and "Arthur's well."

Hudson and Essex Cars

Return to Bedrock Prices

Reduced $200 to $450

Thousands have planned to buy Hudson and Essex cars this Fall. For five years the Super-Six has been the world's largest selling fine car. In eighteen months Essex sales made an unmatched record. What must now be the demand for them at these bedrock prices? But labor and material shortages in early summer had forced reductions in schedules for Fall and Winter. And now the return to normal in prices assures such an immediate increase in sales that a scarcity of Hudson and Essex cars seems certain.

Choose your car now. Learn how the price reduction increases its attractiveness. And remember that in either Hudson or Essex you obtain exclusive motors—for they are patented.

You can save $200 to $450 on the car and model of your choice. Act promptly if you want delivery this Fall.

That business in Portsmouth is only good two or three days of each month. This condition due to the fact Portsmouth workers are only paid once or twice each month. However, we wish to go on record right now with the statement that THE TANENHAUS SYSTEM fully expects to do business every day in the month—in fact, WE HAVE GOT TO DO BUSINESS EVERY DAY, IN THE MONTH in order to be able to meet the big expense incident to the operation of an establishment such as ours. TANENHAUS PROFIT on each individual sale IS VERY, VERY SMALL, and it is absolutely necessary that we make LOTS OF SALES—more sales in fact than it would be possible to make if we were to do business only three or four days each month. We want the working men and women of Portsmouth and community to always bear in mind that PAY DAY CUTS NO ICE IN THE TANENHAUS STORE, for we have repeatedly advertised—THE WORKING MAN'S AND THE WORKING WOMAN'S CREDIT IS GOOD in this establishment. They need no pay envelope to buy here. They need no Banking reference, and they need no pull. The Tanenhaus System has perfected and adapted an unusual and a strictly new kind of

to the outer apparel business, and we are very positive indeed that once you have taken the trouble to investigate the Tanenhaus policy that you will readily agree with us when we say that THE TANENHAUS SYSTEM PRESENTS TO THE PEOPLE OF THIS COMMUNITY THE VERY BEST CLOTHING PROPOSITION THAT HAS YET BEEN INVENTED. Many people will probably say that because we are so liberal with the extension of credit, that our prices must be higher than the SPOT CASH FELLOW. To those well meaning folks we say—compare the quality of the garments we offer you—compare the snap and style of Tanenhaus garments—and compare the genuine value and low price of Tanenhaus offerings against those of any other store in this state, and we are very sure that the Tanenhaus store will not suffer one little bit but, will rather gain through such a comparison. If you are one of Portsmouth's army of workers, and are paid but once or twice a Month—come in and let us explain Tanenhaus methods to you. We are sure that Tanenhaus merchandise and Tanenhaus service will appeal very strongly to your sense of what's fair.

MOVIE CASES TO BE HEARD WEDNESDAY

There were no new developments in the movie situation Monday night in the movie situation. Both sides evidently resting on their laurels in anticipation of the big battle promised to be waged in the eight theatre proprietors, J. F. Potts, J. G. Welch, George L. Law, James Hiles, William Spitzer, Francis McDonald, Dallas Howland and William McConnell, indicted for operating their shows on Sunday, will be put on trial before Judge Thomas and a jury. Much interest is centered in the outcome of the trial, and even a notorious big throng of interested spectators will be present in court tomorrow to hear the proceedings. Prosecutor George W. Sheppard and Attorney A. Z. Blair will handle the case for the state, opposed by Attorneys Theodore Funk and Henry T. Bannon for the defendants. The case of Rev. Nathaniel E. Butler, pastor of Trinity M. E. church, elected to appear in court to show cause why he should not be proceeded against for contempt, will also probably be heard in Municipal court Wednesday. The committee appointed by the court, consisting of Attorneys William R. Sprague and Arthur H. Hanson to inquire into the charge, made its report Monday recommending that the minister be cited for contempt in connection with a "card" written by Rev. Butler which appeared in last Saturday's Times and the printing of which the committee reports "tends to obstruct the administration of justice, degrades the court, destroys its influence and power by influencing the prejudices of the people against it, and brings it into contempt."

Cleveland Indians Set Pace Most Of The Season

The Cleveland Indians certainly deserved to win the American League pennant, for they set the pace in the younger circuit for 127 days. Absorbing the first two weeks of the season when the schedule was interrupted by rainy weather and the clubs had not got straightened away, Cleveland was in the lead the greater part of the time. At the start of the month of May, the Indians had to battle with Boston and Chicago for the supremacy. Boston, though, was never seriously considered as a pennant contender and June in May began to slip. Along about July 1, New York sprang to the fore and disputed the Indian's claim to the leading position. The Indians and the Yankees alternated in the lead, or were tied for a few days until July 8 when Speaker's outfit stepped out into the lead again. Cleveland did not relinquish the lead until August 20 when the slump caused by the death of Ray Chapman threw them into second place and later into third place. Chicago took the top rung August 20, where it remained until September 1, when Cleveland regained the place it has held nearly all year. The Indians again set the pace until September 14 when New York again forged to the front. The Indians were back on top on the 16th and repelled all efforts to dislodge them for the rest of the season.

Is Sent To Reformatory

It required a jury in Common Pleas court Monday afternoon to return a verdict of guilty in the case of Henry Hunter, negro, indicted on a charge of grand larceny in connection with the attempted theft of a diamond at the Wilhelm jewelry store last July. Immediately following the reading of the verdict in court Judge Thomas called the prisoner to the bar and sentenced him to an indeterminate term in the Mansfield Reformatory. Hunter, who is one of the alleged gang of negro thieves rounded up by the local police several weeks ago for stealing from local stores, was defended by Attorney F. T. Moreland. The others are in jail awaiting trial.

"Index Numbers"

The "index number" is a well-established device commonly used for measuring changes in wholesale and retail prices and rates of wages over long periods of time. It is constructed by securing each month the prices or rates of a uniform list, at certain specified places, and striking an average. Such numbers are usually reduced to percentages. The lowest price known is sometimes taken as a base, or as in case of investment stocks, 100 is used.

Release for Women who Suffer

The multitude of American women who suffer terribly day after day and year after year from ills peculiar to their sex is almost beyond belief—yet there is hardly a town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman, and often many, do not reside who have been restored to health from some of the worst forms of female ills, and often avoided operations by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

These Two Women Tell of Their Experience.

Carrollton, Ky.—"I suffered almost two years with female weakness. I could not walk any distance, ride or take any exercise at all without resting. If I went to the floor or did any kind of work it would bring my sickness on. I was weak and languid, had no energy, and life was a misery to me. I was under the care of a good physician for several months and tried other remedies. I had read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking twelve bottles I found myself much improved and I took six more. I have never had any more trouble in that respect since. I have done all kinds of work and at present am an attendant at a State Hospital and am feeling fine. I shall always recommend your Vegetable Compound."—LESLIE THARP, 824 South 6th Street, Carrollton, Ky.

Onalaska, Wis.—"Every month I had such pains in my back and lower part of stomach I could not lie in bed. I suffered so it seemed as though I would die, and I was not regular either. I suffered for a year and was unable to do my housework, could only wash dishes once in a while. I read an advertisement of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other women and decided to try it. It surely did wonders for me. I have no pains now and can do my own housework without any trouble at all. I will always praise your medicine as I do not believe there is a doctor that can do as much good for female weakness as can Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. LESTER E. WARNER, R. 1, Box 69, Onalaska, Wis.

MISS DOLLY WISE

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Miss Wise—Have been an ardent admirer of your column for a number of years and appreciate the very fair and sensible replies you give to the many questions. I noticed in last Thursday's "Times" a question, "Why is Lord Mayor MacSwiney going through a hunger-strike?" He never reply to that is rather misleading to one who is not familiar with the facts of the case. You say he was arrested and sent to an English prison without the benefit of a trial. He was arrested while actively conducting the affairs of a relief organization under cover of a municipal court. Had he been taken at his word and been dealt with as an accused rebel, according to the universal practice of civilized nations, he would have been held in the circumstances of his capture, have been held immediately to be shot. Instead he was tried by a legally constituted tribunal, sentenced to a moderate term of imprisonment, and given at once all the privileges of a political prisoner. Since then several appeals have been made for his release, not one of which contained a guarantee that the police would cease to have him in their power. In all probability the hunger strikers would have been given their freedom. You are aware that nearly 100 policemen, who are the legal custodians of law and order, have been murdered in civil blood while in the execution of their duty. These brave men, who are Irish also, deserve protection. You are probably aware that the United States has threatened civil war because of the British subjects who are in Ireland. It is given that several Irish have been executed for the same reason. It is also stated that several Irish have been executed for the same reason. It is also stated that several Irish have been executed for the same reason.

Lord Mayor MacSwiney was found guilty of sedition by court martial on August 19th and deported to England on a destroyer on August 26th, where he has been confined in an English prison ever since. He was convicted of having made a seditious speech on the occasion of his election, and of having in his possession a copy of the Cork Corporation pleading allegiance to the Dal Eileann, or Irish Republican parliament, which the court martial declared was likely to cause disturbance. The court martial was held under the defense of the Realm Act regulations, and the sentence was two years imprisonment.

The first accounts of the defense of Britain at Dunkirk, this country, describe its most important position, and the example withdrawn from the Irish people of the right of a trial by jury. Military court martial will try the case of the right of a trial by jury. judging from your letter you have never read anything about Ireland except the black and white stories and fairy tales of the British press, and Irish propagandists. In this country, if you want to know anything about Ireland ask some one who has been there, you the truth and don't believe what you read in anti-Irish papers, and for the life of the country, I am sure you will find that the Irish are not the "lazy, shiftless, and dishonest" people that the British press and Irish propagandists would have you believe. The Irish are a brave, hard-working, and honest people, and they are the only people in the world who are not afraid to die for their country. The Irish are a brave, hard-working, and honest people, and they are the only people in the world who are not afraid to die for their country.

the more the merrier. Police are to be in ambush and when civilians are seen approaching about "Hands up!" Should the order be not immediately obeyed, shoot and shoot with effect. If the persons carry their hands in their pockets or are in any way suspicious looking, shoot them down. You may make mistakes occasionally, and innocent persons may be shot. That cannot be helped. You are bound to get the right parties some day. The more you shoot the better I will like you. No policeman will get into trouble for shooting any man. An emigrant ship left a Irish port, lately with lots of Sinn Feiners on board. I assure you, men, they will never land."

"Black and Tans" auxiliary police recruits enlisted from the British army that our American army saved from defeat in the recent war, are also seeking towns and villages and driving the inhabitants from their homes at the point of the bayonet. During a recent raid one woman just succeeded in rescuing her baby from its cot when the house was burned.

Robert Lynd, a distinguished literary man now writing for the London Daily News from Ireland writes: "It is a startling fact that the government has taken no public steps to check the campaigns of shooting, flogging and arson by their paid servants against the Irish people."

"A prominent Cork merchant said to me the other night, 'We don't go out at night now; it is not safe.' It was not of the Sinn Feiners he was afraid, but of those agents of the government who are never reprimanded."

When the Belgians resisted the Germans who did no worse as invaders than the English soldiers are doing in Ireland, they were applauded generally and nowhere more heartily than in the columns of some American newspapers that now denounce the Irish, to whom liberty is as sweet as to any other people. If you will look on page 653 of the 1920 World Almanac you will see how the English parliament is divided. I haven't the space to print it here. The detailed results of the elections throughout Ireland held a few weeks ago show the shallowness of your English argument that the Irish people have failed to agree among themselves on a solution of what is called the Irish question. In the elections the Councils were elected at a very wide franchise embracing practically all men over 21 years of age and all women over 30 and on a system of proportional representation which insured representation in all minorities. The summarized results show:

- (1) That of 206 Councils throughout Ireland only 19 or 9.2 per cent are in favor of the connection with England.
- (2) That 172 Councils or 83.5 per cent definitely recognize the authority of the Irish Republic.
- (3) That every Council in the Provinces of Limerick, Munster and Connaught definitely recognize the authority of the Irish Republic.
- (4) That in the Province of Ulster only 10 out of the 55 Councils or a little over one-third of the Councils are against the Irish Republic.
- (5) That Sinn Fein as a party secured 71.7 per cent of the total seats.
- (6) That Sinn Fein and Republican Labor secured 71.2 per cent of the total seats.
- (7) That of the 302 Labor candidates elected 325 or 10.9 per cent stood as Republican Labor candidates.
- (8) That the Unionists or pro-English party secured only 38.5 of the 312 seats or 12.3 per cent.

I have another letter signed "Fair Play" which I will answer tomorrow night and I hope that will settle the Irish question so far as this column is concerned. The question is too big and space too limited to discuss it here.

SOCIETY

A program of wedding music by Miss Margaret Schumak at the organ, preceded the marriage of Miss Catharine Haffner to Mr. John G. Sommer, which took place at half after five o'clock in St. Mary's church, after Father T. A. Gabel read the nuptial mass, using the double ring ceremony.

A profusion of fall flowers in pink and white were artistically arranged about the church and formed a bowery at the altar. Miss Eliza Schumak, a devoted friend of the bride, sang "O Promise Me," "I Love You Truly" and "Ave Maria," before the Lohengrin Wedding March which announced the entrance of the bride party.

The bride wore an attractive fall-hue of blue tulle with squirrel trimmings and corresponding accessories, complete with a posy bouquet of gladiolus roses. Her gift from the groom was a dainty crescent of pearls.

Her sister, Miss Rosella Haffner, served as bridesmaid and wore a fall suit of brown tulle with beaver trimmings. Her hat and gloves were of brown and her corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses.

Clarence Steady served as groomsmen, and Joseph Sommer and Walter Haffner were ushers.

A wedding breakfast was served to the members of the immediate families, the bride party and Father Gabel at Elks Club, following the service at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Sommer left in their roadster for a three weeks' motor trip, during which they will visit New York City and other points East.

Miss Barbara Heller of Tronton was among the guests. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Haffner of Eleventh Street and until recently was bookkeeper at the Royal Savings Bank.

Mr. Sommer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sommer of Third Street, is associated with his father in the hardware business.

After their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Sommer will be at home to their friends at 946 Third Street.

The High class of the Franklin Avenue M. E. church will meet Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. F. L. Martling, Sunnyside. She will be assisted by Mrs. Richard Boyd and Miss Mary Bengel.

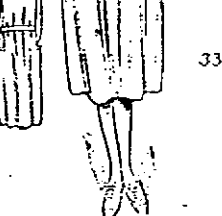

The Ladies Aid Society of the Franklin Avenue M. E. church will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. L. Martling, Sunnyside. She will be assisted by Mrs. Eliza Dais and Miss Ida Herms.

BILLY WILKER

Bobby opened the gate joyfully when Hans agreed to sell the goat and patted the goat on the neck. "Wait right here a minute," said Billy. "I owe him something for throwing me overboard into the sea, and I always like to pay my debts." Out of the barn he ran, through the gate down the drive, and cleared the road with a pretty jump. The goat, tired and dusty, felt grateful for that touch just as Billy had felt, and when Bobby said "Come on," it followed gladly. "If I bring you the money right away," said Bobby, "Come on," he called again to the goat, and ran back to the barn. Running into Billy's stall, he said: "Billy, my boy, I've brought a new friend for you and I want you to be good to this stranger." With that the strange goat came in under him and Billy leaped up with a shout of joy. The new goat was his mother!

Bobby ran back to the house to get his money, leaving the two goats together, and they had so much to tell each other at once that neither one of them heard very much what the other was saying, until Billy happened to pay attention to where his mother was explaining how she had just been sold to Bobby.

"Wait a minute," said Billy, "did you say that man was out there now?"

"Yes," answered his mother.

THEATRICAL

This bill will be offered the first two times to night, at 7:00 and 9 o'clock. Wednesday, this program gives way to the road show musical comedy, "The Katzenjammer Kids." Thursday there will be another complete change of regular program. The musical comedy is being offered by Caulfield's Broadway Players, one of the cleverest miniature extravaganza companies on tour.

Hans and Fritz, Ma Katzenjammer, Der Captain and all the rest of the funny characters of the cartoons take part in the swift moving action of the play.

School children matinee at 3:30. The evening show starts at 8 p. m.

TURNKEY IS ASSAULTED
CANTON, O., October 3.—C. E. Clay, of Alliance, night turnkey at the Stark county jail was seriously injured early this morning when two prisoners beat him over the head with a board and attempted to secure the keys to the jail. A trusty came to Clay's assistance and prevented the escape of forty prisoners confined in the jail. Sheriff Cullum says the turnkey was assaulted by Thomas Postalwalte and Robert Nickolson, held for grand larceny.

SHOOTS AUTO DRIVER
WHO RAN OVER SON
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 3.—John J. Calu, of Poland, is in jail here today for shooting A. M. Falkovic, who while driving an auto ran down Calu's seven year old son. Calu fired five shots, one of which struck Falkovic in the hip. The boy's leg was fractured in the accident.

KILLED WHEN PLANE FALLS
DAYTON—Master Signal Electrician Strong B. Madan, Lansing, Mich., died from injuries received when his plane fell 200 feet at McCook Field.

Trap Lanterns For Bugs.
Entomologists have been experimenting in many parts of the United States with trap lanterns, to determine what classes of insects are most abundantly caught by these lures. At one station, where the trap was run every night for five months, it was found that the beneficial insects, such as the buffalo tree-hopper, the squash bug, the chinch bug, and the locust, almost entirely avoided the light, and surprisingly few specimens were caught, whereas houseflies, bees, wasps, ladybugs and other insect pests of the farmer were destroyed in vast numbers.

Regretted Forgetfulness.
Raymond, who lives in the country had been taken into town by his mother to dine at his uncle's. After dinner, as he sat jocosely watching his city cousins playing about, he suddenly became uncomfortable, noticing the smart frocks of the little girls and the Lord Fauntleroy rigs of the boys, and appeared to try to hide his feet back of the round of his chair. When his mother questioned him, he whispered, almost tearfully: "Before I came I forgot to paint my shoes."

Father Hennepin Found Coal.
The earliest mention of coal in the territory which afterward became the United States is recorded in the Journal of Father Louis Hennepin, a French missionary, who in 1673 recorded the site of a "pile" mine in Illinois river, near the present City of Ottawa, Hennepin having passed through that region ten years before.

Bee's Sting Causes Death.
One in Washington the sting of a honeybee on the finger killed C. F. Gilpin. Death followed the sting within 30 minutes. An attending physician explained the suddenness of death by saying that the poison from the sting probably formed a clot, causing death when it reached either the heart or brain.

Most Expensive Tool.
The diamond drill is a decidedly expensive tool, as it is usual to require eight stones in each bit or drill point, and full-sized stones of from three to four carats each are more satisfactory and economical in the long run than small ones. As the carbon is worth about $55 a carat, a single drill armed with stones of medium size would cost in the neighborhood of $2500.

Willing to Suffer in Good Cause.
He—"I certainly enjoyed that 'honey' she—I'm so glad you did." The twelve dollars' worth of shoes you bought for me is a small thing in view of the way of your enjoyment. Mr. Bickles—"The Widow."

Commissioners Take Favorable Action At Meeting Tuesday

Sciotoville is now officially a part of Portsmouth, which, he asserted, will be a benefit to the village in one sense, while on the other hand it will be an invaluable asset in making Portsmouth a larger and better industrial center. The solicitor general stated that council had already expressed its intention to give the new citizens water service, light, police, fire, protection and other improvements.

There was no opposition offered to the petition when it was called up by Judge Sikes said that the citizens of the village had voted to surrender their charter and join hands with Portsmouth in good faith and with the belief that they will obtain many benefits from the annexation under the new government, which under the old government there was little or no hope of getting. He declared they did not expect the improvements all at once but that they would be satisfied if given by the city such improvements as to become a part of Portsmouth, that they called a special election to surrender the village charter and the result reflected the sentiment here as to the annexation of the village to Portsmouth. The declared that the city had a population of about 3,000 to the population of Portsmouth.

Only 4% Measures Up To Enterprise Standards

The big hard wheat crop you hear so much about this year is long on quantity but very short on quality. Only four per cent of it is fit to be milled into Valier's Enterprise Flour.

Rain and warm weather made the grain outgrow its strength. It has too much starch and water in it and not nearly enough gluten.

The wheat that is good enough to be milled into Enterprise Flour grew where there was less moisture. It ripened into thinner, harder grain, strong and full of gluten. But it is only four per cent of the crop. It is very scarce and hard to find.

We have to have such grain, for no other will mill into flour capable of producing the same fine results that you have always had with Enterprise. So we paid the price and got it.

Naturally Enterprise costs a few cents more this year, but those few cents will be many times repaid. You won't be annoyed by needless, expensive failures and you'll get more bakings per sack than with ordinary flour.

CHOOSE ONE OF THESE IN ORDER TO BE PROPERLY SUITED

Here are three suits which should satisfy almost any taste. At the left is the semi-dress or fashion suit which is often the choice of the very feminine business woman, the school girl or the home woman. At the right is the strictly tailored suit for the tailored woman while in the center is a stunning dressy suit of black velvet showing an unusual coat. Of course one could use all three of these suits upon different occasions, but even if your budget allows only one suit surely any one of these might answer all purposes.

Egyptians First in Field

The earliest objects that civilization possesses in the way of ancient pottery show that the Egyptians were probably the first to use plates, but the practice may have originated independently wherever a knowledge of early phases were of the alkaline type, which had to be first fused into a glass before it could be applied to pottery.

Observing Mammy.

A few months after I had been married an old colored woman living in the neighborhood told me "Say, honey, here 'go' was married I noticed Miss Green was always hanging on 'go' him, but now I see 'go' does the hanging on his arm."—Chicago Tribune.

His Explanation.

The Heavy-41 bar that your interpretation of Hamlet was based on the 11th Fordhead theater last night! The local "Ah, yes! The performance was based on a Shakespearean reversal and I suspect some partisans of Bacon resented it."—Puck.

Sugar From Palm Sap.

In the East Indies a sugar known as jaggery is made from the sap of the coconut palm. The sap is obtained by cutting the flower spike and the juice flows about 15 per cent of sugar. It is a sweetened liquid and is very pure. Chemically, much of it is identical with cane and beet sugar.

A Hot Time.

Another time when a man's hot temper sometimes costs him money is when he gets so mad at the landlord he forgets to pay the moving man what he has to be paid.—Kansas City Star.

Beware Indulgence of Anger.

It is not enough for one to get mad by himself. It takes two together. But when one gets angry it is rather difficult for the other to remain calm. Anger is something that is catching, and ought to be controlled against at all times.

He also leaves the following brothers, Rev. Isaac Fannin of Ashland, Ky., Albert Fannin of Fullerton, Ky., Fannin of Floyd county, Ky., Bud Fannin of Berry, Ky., Jacob Fannin of Ironton and R. E. George Varian

Death about nine o'clock Monday night still the heart of George Varian, one of the most faithful members of Second Presbyterian church, the final summons to the Great Beyond coming at Homestead hospital. He underwent an operation about ten days ago. He rallied from it, but later took a change for the worse and gradually grew weaker until Monday evening, when he died.

Mrs. Varian was born April 12, 1851. Most of his life was spent in this city. He was a cripple, but he did not let this keep him from going about his daily work. He had worked about a large number of the well known towns of the city, for he was a favorite with all, and when there was a cold job, it was George Varian who was called to do it. He could always be counted upon to do the task the best he knew how.

The deceased had a church record that speaks for his regularity. He joined the Second church June 26, 1912, and on many weeks would only attend one service, and that was during an icy spell, when he was afraid he would fall and injure himself. He attended every session of the church, Christian Endeavor, Sunday school and midweek prayer services, always finding him present.

Mr. Varian lived at 1124 Teah street for a number of years. He had a legion of friends who will learn of his passing away with genuine sorrow.

The funeral services will be conducted from the Second Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock with Dr. George P. Host in charge. Interment will be in Greenlawn.

Mrs. Celia Fimmore

Went received Monday that death had claimed Mrs. Celia Fimmore at Athens state hospital Sunday. She was 53 years of age. Most of her life was spent in the south end of Portsmouth where she was well known. She had been a patient at the hospital for four years.

The deceased leaves a son, Butler Fimmore of 2625 Rhodes avenue, New Boston and six brothers and a sister. The body is expected to arrive here today from Athens.

Mrs. Nancy Whaley

Death claimed Mrs. Nancy Whaley, 78, widow of the late John Whaley, Monday night. She had been ill for some time with infirmities.

For some years Mrs. Whaley had been making her home with her only child, her daughter, Mrs. Blanche Bingham of Fullerton, back of Lawrenceville.

Services will be held in Salt Creek church at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday, with burial in Salt Creek cemetery.

PENNY ANTE

The Guy Who Tries To Squeeze In

A Large Crowd Was Out, Eller Too Much For Locals While Visitors Hit Donalds

After their exhibition at Millbrook Park Monday afternoon, when they gave the All Stars a kicking to the tune of 10-0 before a crowd of more than 1500 fans, there is not a person that helped make up the fan populace but is still wondering why on earth the Cincinnati Reds did not win the National League championship this year, instead of finishing third in the league.

The Reds, led by that old war horse, Frank Baker, dug around the bases with their legs, working almost at will and skimming over the ground like shadows. A faster team never existed at the local park and there was not one bit of hyperbole. The Reds, always favorites here, were out there to win by as large a score possible and they simply ran the All Stars ragged in chasing the ball. They found Eddie Donalds, for seven years a local favorite, some of which were in most lengthy and the Reds were the class of the party.

On the other hand, Hod Eller, who went the entire distance at top speed, had the locals completely at his mercy. Toward the close of the game he was sending the ball to try Wingo like a machine gun, and he fanned no less than seven of the All Stars. He gave a high class exhibition of pitching and the local fans are to be congratulated that the Reds played the game right up to the hilt. Ordinarily a big league club, when making a trip among the brush, pull off a whole lot of stuff that does not belong to a ball game. Monday afternoon, however, they were at top speed and there was never a chance for the locals, who got but one man as far as third base.

Let's on the mound but the fall fellow was reported sick and under the care of a physician. Eddie Donalds, who had pitched a double header on Saturday, proved to be the willow warrior and went out there and did the best he could under the circumstances. He got along famously for the first four innings, and then gave out and was compelled to let the ball over the plate. In the fifth the first three Reds to face him, Ruth, Dandridge and Kosh, got on, and then Pat Moran, whose pretty wife was in the stand, batted on for a huge triple. This blow was what put the game on ice—at least took away all hopes the Masonic fraternity, opened their 1920-21 season at the Pennant alleys last evening, when the Spiders captured two out of three from the Monkeys. The scores were very much alike, due to the fact the players have had but little practice. The Monkeys won the opening game, but the Spiders went after them thereafter, and captured the next two games, and captured them with ease. The high man of the evening was Ruggles, who totaled 171 for the Monkeys. President McCorkle, of the Spiders, was second high with 140. Dawson of the Monkeys established a league record with a score of 224 for his third game. He shot 61, 90 and 73. The scores:

Illinois Tipped As Western Conference Winner

The University of Illinois football team appears to have an exceptionally bright chance to recapture the Western Conference football title for the first time since 1914. The team, which was defeated by the graduation team in the Big Ten championship game, is now being coached by the former head coach, Dr. J. B. Fletcher, who has been in the coaching line for the past two seasons. Fletcher, who has been in the coaching line for the past two seasons, is now being coached by the former head coach, Dr. J. B. What Pat Moran Says

Pat Moran and some of his men have their ideas about the charges made that the series was fixed for Cincinnati to win. When Pat was asked what he thought of the charges that the Sox had thrown the game to the Reds he heartily answered: "Not a bit of it; they may have tried, but it wasn't necessary, as we were the best team anyway, and would have topped no matter how hard they were trying to win. If they were fixed, then I will give them credit for being very good actors, and they ought to be on the stage. Take that fellow Buck Weaver, for instance. They say he was framed. Why? The way he hit the ball in the series was wonderful. Joe Jackson nearly broke his neck several times in making catches that presented us from scoring many runs." He also Groh was asked if Cleo grooved the ball for him, and he said: "He did not, but worked hard on me all the time. In the first game, with two men on, I hit one to Jackson. If it had gone safe it would have been good for two or three bases, but he made a great run and caught it. That doesn't look like fixed ball playing. In another occasion the bases were full and one of our fellows hit one to ward short. Risberg leaped high in the air and speared it. If he had missed it no person in the world could have said he was playing poorly." Eddie Groh said: "If Cleo was trying to lose he did not show it to me, for I didn't get a hit off him in the whole series. He never put one over that didn't have something on it."

Will Attempt To Come Back

Al McCoy, ex-middleweight champion of the world, is going to re-enter the ring with the object of winning back his title. He has been training faithfully for the last four months in the Maline woods, chopping down trees, taking long hikes and boxing daily with the three sparring partners he took with him to get him in

BOWERS BEAT MOVIES

The Morles showed up with three blinks, and not because they have any lack of skill. But two of the Morles, Messrs. Tynes and Chilton, took the mark and they hit fairly well, particularly the former, who has been out of the game for several years. F. N. T. cracked the wood for 450 and got one game of 181, showing he was going to be a tower of strength to the Morles, and after whom the team was dubbed. This was the boss pin bouncer for the Bowers, he shooting for a total of 515. His first game was 194 and he held the advantage gained thereby. President Deper was second high man for his team, showing very carefully for a total of 422. Another Man Deper, from whom great things are expected was far from correct form, he getting but one good game. He'll come through all right, make no mistake about that. The scores:

Leave For Huntington
The Cincinnati Reds left Monday night for Huntington, Ark. for a decisive victory over the local team, to meet the team of that city Thursday. Wednesday they will play at Charleston, after which they will tour the real fields for a series of games. Sunday they will play at Chillicothe. The Reds receive a guarantee of $500 in every town at which they play.

THE SOUVENIR MANIA

THE desire for souvenirs is satisfied may not profit the hunter greatly while it may injure many others. A dispatch from Paris notes that because a group of American tourists removed some articles to be brought home as souvenirs from Fort de Vaux at Verdun the military authorities have decided to allow visitors no longer to penetrate the historic site. It is added further that there has been such abuse of privileges that other historic areas will also be closed unless greater respect is paid. Even name plates from crosses in cemeteries are stated to have been removed in the last for souvenirs.

No doubt there are many millions of people not only in America but over the world at large who hope to visit the scenes where the Americans fought side by side with the gallant French poilus. Yet the desire may be denied realization because a few with total disregard of the proprieties have abused the privileges granted them. Thus to secure a few trinkets of no tangible value they injure untold numbers of others.

The battle grounds of Europe are sacred spots and it is a strange sort of person that would stoop in any way to desecrate the ground where men by the thousands died bravely fighting for us as well as themselves. It is a morbid, a ghastly instinct that prompts one to stealing anything that properly belongs there. Though it may be done under the plea of securing a souvenir does not diminish the gravity of the offense.

STILL WORK FOR RED CROSS

THE American Red Cross Society is one of a league of Red Cross organizations composed of 32 members, which has its administrative headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland. The majority of nations have active organizations in this form of relief work.

The fact that the Red Cross performs such important work during a war may have given many persons the idea that the organization has little to do when peace prevails. Nothing could be farther from the truth than such a conclusion.

The Red Cross has departments and supplies for giving relief in cases of flood, fire or in epidemics which get beyond the control of local organizations and health bodies, and for the promotion of better health conditions among the people, especially the poor.

The Red Cross not only rendered unexcelled service for the armies during the war, but it has continued this service in times of peace. The work which it is doing for sick and disabled soldiers and others is the continuance of service rendered during the war.

The American Red Cross workers won the plaudits of the world for their excellent work in Europe and in the United States. Long after the armistice was signed American money and supplies were distributed in the devastated districts of middle Europe by American workers, who found that their efforts were even more needed than when fighting was in progress.

The Red Cross will have its fourth consecutive annual roll call from November 11 to 23, at which time the millions of persons in sympathy with the work of the organization in the United States will have the opportunity of continuing their support by the payment of one dollar each. The money will enable the Red Cross to carry on its work more effectively and to prepare for any emergency that may arise.

Out of the black baseball scandal comes one bright ray. When one of the players threw $15,000 into his wife's lap and told her he had sold his club out there was one of the liveliest family rows ever heard in Chicago.

Deadwood, once famous in the lurid literature of the wild and woolly west, seems to be in a fair way to vanish from off the map. Its population declined over one-third the past ten years and it is now little more than a mere village.

Of thirteen county populations reported in Kentucky seven show a loss. To a considerable degree their loss was Portsmouth's gain as the city numbers many Kentuckians among its inhabitants.

Bids are in for the little jags of paving and soon we may claim that the Peerless is the only completely paved city in the world.

Taking time by the forelock is a most excellent thing. The contractors for the east end of Gallia pike are right now putting in the culverts and transporting the brick along the way. Therefore and why the public is not likely to be discommoded all of next year with the slow progress of the improvement.

They are trying to prove now that baseball was rotten 'way back in 1902, which naturally raises the question: How has it been esteemed clean all this time?

Presidential Campaigns

By Frederic J. Haskin

The Garfield-Hancock Race of 1880

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 2.—

The September election in Maine is one of the few anti-election

"straws" still left from the old days twice in the history of the country the "news from Maine" in September was portentous. In 1880 it accurately indicated that Harrison would sweep the country. In 1880, forty years later, it showed that the Republicans were in a terrible condition and in danger of being wiped off the earth. The temporary became too confident, the Republicans put almost superhuman energy into the fight, and Garfield won by a very small majority. Even then if it had not been for the treachery of Tammany Hall, the Republican fight would have been lost.

The campaign of 1880 stands out as the one presidential contest in which political manipulation and chicanery overshadowed everything else. Both

Garfield and Hancock were nominated by shrewd manipulation in the face of the fact that the majority in each party preferred another man. Garfield faced what seemed certain defeat from knifing by great leaders in his own party. The Republican breach was closed by the making of many promises, most of which could not be fulfilled. In the Democratic party the leaders who were battling for "reform"

were outwitted by the practical politicians, and the very same practical politicians granted party suicide in the closing days of the campaign.

The Republican National Convention

at Chicago in 1880 was the scene of the greatest battle ever fought for a political nomination. General Grant, having returned from a triumphant tour around the world, was an active candidate for a third term. He had the support of hosts of the Republican voters and of the shouting masses.

James G. Blaine was the favorite of the politicians and of a majority of the Republicans, who were not carried away by the glamour of Grant's military fame. Blaine was the most magnetic leader his party has had, and his following was a personal one.

A Poetic Politician

Opposed to Blaine was the able

Joseph C. Conkling, senator from New York. Because he hated Blaine, rather than because he loved Grant, Conkling led the Grant forces in the convention. He placed Grant in nomination in the famous speech beginning:

"If you ask what state he hails from,

our sole reply shall be,

He comes from Appomattox.

And its famous apple tree."

But by the closing sentences of his speech he mortally offended Blaine supporters and they swore that Grant should be defeated, even if Blaine could not win. For days and days the battle waged, the Grant and Blaine forces holding firm, and each of a dozen other candidates hoping to be the lucky dark horse.

John Sherman, of Ohio, was a serious candidate, he thought, and his name had been placed in nomination

by James A. Garfield. Garfield's speech was adroit and conciliatory and while he was speaking for Sherman, there were responsive cries from the house for Garfield. At the beginning of the second week, on the thirty-sixth ballot, the Blaine column uncermoniously to Garfield, the break having been led by Wisconsin. The Wisconsin delegation decided upon Garfield over

William Windom by a margin of but one vote. Had Windom received that vote he might have captured the nomination. When Garfield was nominated there were still 299 delegates waiting for Grant. "The immortal war"

they were called, and gold medals were struck for them in commemoration of the stand they made. It was the first effort to obtain a third term ever made by any man who had been president.

Conkling was furious over the nomination of Garfield, whom he did not trust. He refused to select the vice presidential candidate, but the convention named Chester A. Arthur, just because he was a friend of Conkling.

We sometimes make presidents so.

General Grant was also outraged, and for a time he and Conkling were agreed to knife the ticket and defeat

Garfield. The balance between the two parties was then so even that any great leader sinking in the test, on either side, meant defeat.

Republicans Got Together

But later in the campaign, after the news from Maine came in, peace was restored. The prospect of a complete overthrow of Republican power caused the party leaders to bury their factional differences. Conkling at last consented to call on Garfield. And, as a supreme sacrifice of personal feelings, Conkling persuaded General

Grant to take the stump for Garfield.

Grant stopped the ineffectual revolt which threatened irretrievable disaster to the party.

The Democratic convention met in June and in spite of the sentiment of nine-tenths of the Democrats of the country, and in spite of the protest of its wisest leaders, it nominated General Winfield Scott Hancock for president. It was not that the Democrats did not like Hancock, for he was very popular and had been mentioned as a candidate for president in every convention since the war.

But the Democrats, and many of the Independents, too, wanted Samuel J.

Tilden re-nominated. "Give us the old ticket!" they cried. "Let us fight it out with the fraud of '77 for our issue!" Although Hayes had made a good president although his administration had restored peace in the country and although specie payments had been resumed and a dollar was once more a dollar, there were none so poor as to Hayes honor. He had not pleased his own party politicians, and the Democrats hated him because they believed he was president by grace of fraud.

Tammany Beat Tilden

Tammany Hall hated Tilden, and Tammany Hall told the Democrats at Cincinnati that they would knife him if he was nominated. But they planned to extract a promise from Tammany that any other candidate would not be killed. So Tilden was turned down, the Democrats forfeited their right to raise the issue of the "Fraud of '77," and Hancock was named, with William H. English, of Indiana as running mate.

The campaign was a fiercely contested one, and the Democrats were almost certain of victory until the very last. The Republicans were fearful, but Garfield was a very ambitious man and he did not intend to be defeated if human agencies could prevent it. Garfield was a skilled politician with long service in the house of representatives behind him. He avoided every pitfall and conducted a massively campaign, bringing to his support men who hated him.

General Hancock, on the other hand, was not so skilled. Undoubtedly, General Hancock's famous statement "The tariff is a local issue," had much to do with his defeat. The tariff issue was a very vital one then, and Hancock's contention lost him many votes among that element which later came to be known as "mugwump."

Notwithstanding direct attacks upon

Garfield's integrity, and insinuations against Hancock, the campaign exhibited less of vituperation and personal abuse than had been the rule for years. The Republican orators still

Questions AND Answers

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Portsmouth Daily Times Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This office applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake extensive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cent stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. What kind of stamps are used for service mail, and how can one send letters in this way? E. G.

A. The regulation postage stamps are used for air mail. The postage is two cents, and in order to be sure that a letter will travel in this fashion, it should be handed in at a post office window with such a request.

Q. Into how many languages has the Bible been translated? Are there any countries in which the Gospel has not been preached? G. T. W.

A. The latest report of the British Bible Society states that the Bible has been translated by the society into 150 different languages and dialects. The American Association also has completed 150 translations. At the present time there are many parts of China, India, China, Africa, and Australia where the Gospel has not yet been preached.

Q. What was the total number of War Risk Insurance policies issued during the war and the number that have lapsed through non-payment of premiums? E. S.

A. There are 1,600,000 policies in force, totaling $10,311,619,660. The Bureau of War Risk Insurance has not compiled figures showing how many policies have lapsed.

Q. On a recent visit to Washington, I noticed that the dome of the capitol was painted white. I was under the impression that the same was painted when I saw it about 12 years ago. If it has been changed, why was it done? N. B.

A. The dome of the capitol has always been white. You probably confuse it with the dome of the Congressional Library close by which is covered with gold leaf.

Q. Seeing your answer in regard to the weight of one million dollar bills, would like to know the height they would reach if placed one on top of the other? G. W. L.

A. The Treasury Department says that a million dollar bills stacked one upon another would be 312 1/2 feet high.

Q. Which are the seven seas referred to in literature? G. B. G.

A. According to Tipling's poem by that title, the seven seas include the North and South Atlantic, North and South Pacific, Arctic, Antarctic and Indian Oceans.

Q. To settle a dispute please publish the date of the death of President Wilson's first wife, and when did he marry? W. M. K.

A. President Wilson's first wife died August 6, 1911. He was married to Edith Bouling Galt on December 18, 1905.

Q. Please give dimension and cost of the Kiel Canal and when was it built? J. C. H.

A. The Kiel Canal is 61 miles in length 35 feet depth and 22 feet in width. The canal was completed in 1911 and cost $104,000,000.

made much of the "bloody shirt," but they were unable to frighten even themselves into the frenzy of the preceding campaigns when the presence of a "bloody shirt" in congress portended the establishment of Jeff Davis in the White House.

The whole election turned on New York. The south had become the "solid south" for the first time in its history, for it was never solidly Democratic before the war, and the doubtful states were New York, Indiana, Connecticut and California. New York's vote decided the election in favor of Garfield, who also had a popular majority in the whole country of about 7,000 votes.

New-York - Day-By-Day

BY G. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The hotel lobbyers are bustling with life. The first touch of frost brings the New Yorkers galloping from their gray-stone chateaux in Westchester. Long away from the city's maddling throng, they long for life! Luncheon and tea are events. There is a sparkle and dash that wane as the winter activities begin to pall.

The fayer crowds are interesting. A thin stooped man in tweeds and a monocle—perhaps an earl or an importer. A dowager chaperoned two frivolous young girls, expensively tricked out. She will gaze through her lorgnette at the male companion when he arrives.

"Mr. Michael Kelly," shouts the trimly uniformed page, waving in and out the crowds with his silver platter. One expects to see a giant with an oxen-cubed set forth from the potted palms. Instead they see a little pale-eyed, rat like man peep after the page.

"Miss Tulliver on the telephone," shouts another and the crowds still the hum of gossip to watch and wait. Will it be Norma, or Constance? Likely as not it will be a plain looking spinster. The big rudely dressed fellow leaning with easy familiarity on the nearest and furthest corners of the crowd with half-hidden systems.

His derby is always at the same tilt and his shoes are mountainous. He is the house detective. The man who is called in the dead of night to hear the actress whisper of the theft of her pearls. Or to lunch a scandal that may rock the nation.

Then the sprightly of half-room boys. It is easy to tell they have just dined—few they hear themselves with easy composure. It is only when the house detective looks their way that they seem uncomfortable.

In the waiting rooms await the brand of perfume and powdered ladies in evening dress. They haven't an appointment. They are looking out for a chance acquaintance but they must be a part of the casual crowd or arouse suspicion. In this fashion they make it impossible for the hotel to ask them to leave—one mistake might cost thousands.

Overall parades, carry-your-own lunch and other similar movements no doubt had their place. Yet just now New York is gripped strangely by a movement of curb buying until prices reached a lower level. There was no propaganda. It seemed to come all at once. Merchants comment about it. Suddenly as if the entire city had left a mass meeting determined to idle their time, the big stores and shops felt the pinch. The high priced tailors who were not holding any business on account of high prices have suddenly seen a change. There are very few customers. One shirtmaker told me he had not had an order for 15 days. The places that sell $5 and $6 neckties are also having few patrons. Ladies' tailoring establishments are screaming a reduction of prices in page advertisements.

Private showing of films takes on all the haughty ways of a first night on Broadway. Most of them are shown in a projection room on West Forty-Second Street. It is a cozy room—with wicker chairs, foot stools and handy ash trays. There is a reception room where the author, the director and other important persons of the film receive the invited guests. All are in dinner dress. Afterwards tea is served and the author makes a speech.

News come back to Broadway that Harry Dicer, the East Side boy, who has no claim to fame save that Gale Deasy was fond of him, is making a fortune in Paris. He has started a syndicate of dance establishments with jazz bands from the East Side and professional dancers from Broadway. One of his phases, "L'Oasis," is the center of night life.

Truthful Comment.

A merchant recently placed an automobile weighing machine in front of his store. A few days afterward a citizen was observed standing on the machine and closely scrutinizing the dial. His hat was in his hand, although the thermometer marked a low temperature and a passerby asked him why he had his hat off. "I want to see what I weigh without my outdoor garments," said the citizen blandly. His interlocutor walked away uttering: "He would not weigh much less if he took his head off as well."

"Why, Doris?" questioned the teacher. "All good little girls want to go to heaven. Why don't you?"

PENNY ANTE

The Guy Who Tries To Squeeze In

A Large Crowd Was Out, Eller Too Much For Locals While Visitors Hit Donalds

After their exhibition at Millbrook Park Monday afternoon, when they gave the All Stars a hiding to the tune of 10 to 0 before a crowd of more than 1,000 fans, there is not a person that is still wondering why on earth the Cincinnati Reds did not win the National League championship this year. Instead of finishing third in the regular circuit.

The Reds, led by that old war horse, Frank Bancroft, flung around the opposition with a vengeance, scoring almost as well as slugging over the ground like shoo-bies. A faster team never roared at the local crowd and there was not a lot of lip-sucking. The Reds, always favorites here, were out there to win by as large a score as possible and they simply ran the All Stars ragged in chasing the ball. They found "Little Donalds" for seventeen solid whips, some of which were of a most lengthy nature and the Reds were the class of the party.

On the other hand, Red Eller, who went the entire distance at top speed, had the locals completely at his mercy. Toward the close of the game he was sending the ball to Ivy Wingo like a machine bullet, and he fanned no less than seven of the All Stars. He gave a high class exhibition of pitching and the local fans are to be congratulated that the Reds played the game right up to the handle. Ordinarily a big league club, when making a trip among the brush, pull off a whole lot of stuff that does not belong to a ball game. Monday afternoon, however, they were at top speed and there was never a chance for the locals, who got but one man as far as third base.

The All Stars expected to see DeLoach on the mound but the call fell on a reported sick and under the care of a physician. Double Donalds, who had pitched a double header on Saturday, proved to be the willing worker and went out there and did the best he could under the circumstances. He got along famously for the first four innings, and then gave out and was compelled to let the ball over the plate. In the fifth the first three batters, Ray, Rath, Danvers, and Routh, got on, and then Pat Duncan, whose pretty wife was in the stand, landed on one for a huge triple. This blow was what put the game on ice—at least took away all hopes the

The scores were very meagre, due to the fact the players have had but little practice. The Monkeys won the opening game, but the Spiders went after them thereafter, and captured the next two games, and captured them with ease. The high man of the evening was Ruggles, who totaled 473 for the Monkeys. President McGeeble, of the Spiders, was second high with 410. Dawson of the Monkeys established a league record with a score of 224 for his three

Crooks In All Lines, Game Will Survive Big Exposure In Chicago, Says Business Manager Bancroft Of Reds

Frank Bancroft, that grizzled old veteran of baseball, was in charge of the Cincinnati Reds here Monday. While here he met two old friends, Mayor W. N. Cabell and Scout Billy Doyle, of the Detroit Tigers, who is regarded as one of the best scouts in the business. Bancroft's visit here recalled to the mind of many Portsmouth people the time over twenty years ago when he was here with a prominent theatrical company.

In speaking of the big baseball scandal that has been occupying the attention of the fans, Bancroft said that as soon as the agitation passed, the national game would be restored to the old plane of clean playing and honesty on the part of both player and owner. Bancroft stated that there were crooks in any business and it could not be expected that baseball would be entirely free from the parasites of dishonesty.

Illinois Tipped As Western Conference Winner

The University of Illinois football team appears to have an exceptionally bright chance to recapture the Western Conference football title for the third consecutive time this year. Although handicapped by the graduation of four linemen, Coach Zuppke still has his famous backfield of the 1919 championship eleven intact.

Robert E. Fletcher, quarterback, who suited the Ohio State game only a year ahead of them. They are led by the first year in the last eight seasons. Crangle, fullback, Captain of the team, center, Curney and Reich, ends, are all back in school and are showing better form than ever.

If Zuppke can develop a pair of guards and a pair of tackles to fit the shoes of the graduated men, the outlook will be good for the Triumvirate in the collegiate race.

What Pat Moran Says

Pat Moran and some of his men have their ideas about the charges made that the series was fixed for Cincinnati to win. When Pat was asked what he thought of the charges that the Sox had thrown the game to the Reds he heatedly answered:

"Not a bit of it; they may have tried, but it wasn't necessary, as we were the best team anyway, and would have topped no matter how hard they were trying to win. If they were fixed, then I will give them credit for being very good actors, and they ought to be on the stage. Take that fellow Dick Weaver, for instance. They say he was framed. Why? The way he hit the ball in the series was wonderful. Joe Jackson nearly broke his neck several times in making catches that prevented us from scoring many runs."

Heide Groh was asked if Cicotte grooved the ball for him, and he said: "He did not, but worked hard on me all the time. In the first game, with two men on, I hit one to Jackson. It had gone safe it would have been good for two or three bases, but he made a great run and caught it. That's the way he played."

Man For Man Cleveland Has A Slight Edge

Man for man, team for team, Cleveland has a big edge on Brooklyn. In the world series which opens at Brooklyn today, comparisons based on statistics for the season's play leave the Dodgers trailing in every respect. But statistics don't always win ball games.

Just lead an ear to these statistics. The Indians hit as follows in the American League this season: Speaker 287, Evans 269, Linn 255, Nuyamaker 247, Sewell 245, O'Neill 222, Junderson 220, Gaudin 210, Smith 207, Bagley 208, Johnston 200, Wood 205, Bagley 204, Burns 200, Wandy 200 and Lunt 197.

The Dodgers hit as follows this season: Wheat 224, Keneally 203, Myers 203, Orlines 203, Lamar 203, Johnston 203, Krueger 287, Miller 286, Kibler 276, Griffith 264, Olson 250, Nels 250, Smith 250, Pfeiffer 250, Elmer 249 and Mitchell 248.

Surge Jim Dughey is the class of both leagues, if one glances at the number of games won during the past season with 31 victories and 11 defeats.

What the Brooklyn club did in the world's series of 1916 against the Boston Red Sox gives little data upon which to base the chances of the Superiors in the coming series. There are now only eight men playing with Brooklyn who took part in the 1916 series. Zack Wheat in five games batted for .210, which is far below his normal average, and fielded for a team of .666. Albers' batting average was .382 and his fielding mark 1.000. Johnson took part in three games, hit for .500 and fielded for .500, having one point and one error. Miller had a batting average of .125 in two games and fielded perfectly. Olson went through five games hit for .200 and fielded for .800. The other three players in the 1916 series were Pfeiffer, Maughan and Smith. Maughan did not get a hit in his two games, but had a perfect fielding record. Pfeiffer in four games hit for .250 and fielded for .666, while Smith in one game got a hit which netted him a batting average of .200. He accepted one put out and had seven assists for a perfect fielding record.

None of the three pitchers now with Brooklyn succeeded in winning a game in the 1916 series. Pfeiffer took part in three games, pitching 10 2/3 innings. He was charged with one defeat. Smith pitched 14 1/3 in three games and was charged with the defeat, while Maughan pitched 11 innings in two games and was charged with defeats in both.

The statistics of the Brooklyn players show that the average is 25 years, the average weight 175 pounds and the average height about five feet, 11 inches.
